

CHANGING ATTITUDESPart One:

Ask six friends or schoolmates to answer the following questions. Choose people between the ages of 12 and 18. Record your answers using Y for yes and N for no.

1. Does it bother you if someone smokes while you're eating?
2. If you hang out with someone who smokes, do you mind getting the smell of cigarette smoke in your clothes or hair?
3. Do you think smoking makes a person look mature?
4. Do you think smoking makes someone look more foolish?
5. Would you prefer to date someone who does not smoke?
6. Would you care if your younger sister or brother wanted to start smoking?
7. Do you think cigarettes are a rip-off (about 700 dollars a year to pay for a pack a day habit)?
8. Do you believe that someone who experiments with a few cigarettes has a risk of becoming addicted?
9. Do you believe that tobacco companies try to get young people to start smoking?
10. Do you smoke?

Part Two:

Did you notice different answers among smokers than non-smokers? If so, explain why this might be true. Write your response on a separate sheet of paper.

Part Three:

Use the information you have collected to create a chart that indicates your survey results, or to develop your own anti-smoking poster. For example, you might use the slogan, "Get with the Crowd: 70 percent of Jefferson High students DON'T smoke!"
